

Environment

As in any other industrial activity, in order to obtain our products, the transformation and support processes have some environmental impacts. Therefore, Amorim Cork undertakes to:

- Monitor significant environmental aspects, contributing to the prevention or reduction of undesired environmental impacts, which also include reducing the potential to contribute to external environmental conditions that may affect the organization;
- Act proactively identifying, evaluating and putting into practice suitable preventive measures to minimize the specific environmental impact of each activity, using, whenever feasible, the best available technology and practices;
- Set goals and develop the necessary actions in order to promote a systematic improvement of environmental performance.
